How can I register a .com.cy domain?

In order to register a .com.cy domain, follow the same procedure as for all the domains from our home page here.

The procedure to register a domain is asynchronous, therefore, it will be completed within 1-10 days.

Why do all .com.cy domains appear as being available?

All .com.cy domains appear available during research, since currently, there is no API (automated connection application) from the .cy registry so that the procedures are implemented automatically.

The domain availability research, registration and management procedures are carried out manually by our team.

Can I transfer a .com.cy domain from another registrar?

Changing a .com.cy registrar is not currently supported, however, you can leave your information at support@papaki.com so that we can notify you, as soon as that option is available.
